1. TITLE AND NUMBER OF COURSE: _____

2. CREDIT HOURS: _____

3. PROPOSAL:

On an attached page, include a proposal that explains and justifies the project you envision. The proposal length will depend on the project's complexity; a Senior Honors Project proposal should be approximately six hundred words.

Proposals should be directed at educated readers who are not specialists in your area of study. Proposals will typically include the following elements:

- Preparation (What courses or other previous experiences make it probable that you will successfully complete this project?)
- Project Description (Identify the project's goals, procedures, and probable stages, and identify the features that make this project rigorous and intellectually-demanding enough to warrant Honors designation.
- Presentation (Describe the project's final products, and, if possible and appropriate, identify presentation opportunities that you will seek.)
- Advisor's/teacher's role
- Budget (If a project requires funding, students should attach the "Student Research Funds" form, available in the Academic Dean's Office, and follow its guidelines for itemized budget requests.)
