Mumps Health Advisory

A confirmed case of the mumps virus has been identified on campus. In order to reduce the potential spread of the virus it is important to be aware of the most commons symptoms. These would include fever, headache, muscle aches, fatigue, loss of appetite, and jaw pain and/or swelling. Mumps needs to be diagnosed and evaluated by a health care professional. If you would develop symptoms please call Health Service 387-1045 or contact your health care provider for further instructions and evaluation.

Mumps is a highly contagious viral infection and is spread through oral or nasal secretions. To reduce your risk of contracting the virus do NOT share drinks, water bottles or any utensils and continue to practice good hand washing techniques.

For further information refer to the following websites:

http://www.cdc.gov/mumps/about/index.html

Diane Tappe, Director of Health Service

Dr. Janet Ryan
Medical Director and Gundersen Health System Physician