Please consider this itinerary a general roadmap for the places we will visit and the activities involved. As on all our tours, we leave room for “serendipity” so we can take advantage of unique people, places and events.

March 28: Participants leave the US no later than March 28 so as to arrive in Da Nang by the end of the day on March 29th—best connections are through either Delta/Korean Air or American/Japan Air, but all should arrive IN DA NANG no later than 10:00 pm (on the 29th). Jerry and Ann are happy to consult with participants on flights.

Transportation for this tour is by 30-passenger coach, two 16-passenger vans in the mountains, one night train in cabins with bunks, by boat for many tours, and by flights between Hanoi and Bangkok, and round trip Bangkok-Paro, Bhutan. All of this transportation is included in the tour fee, including transfers from airports.
Participants pay for their flights from their home airport to Da Nang, Vietnam, and from Bangkok to their home airport.

Meals are noted by (B, L, D) each day in Vietnam. Breakfast is included every day and our hotels usually have lovely buffet breakfasts that include both Asian and American food. All meals are included in Bhutan.

March 29:
Airport pick-up of participants and transfer to Hoi An Rosemary Hotel 4* (www.hoianrosemary.com/)

March 30: DaNang/Hoi An (B, D)
We will try to have a short meeting most days before we head out—or we will preview the day and answer your questions on the bus.

This first day we will meet after breakfast at 9:00am for a short orientation, and then will take a Hoi An walking tour. Our tour will include the Ancient Town, home to the beautiful Chua Cau or roofed bridge, the ancient meeting places, as well as lovely hidden pagodas.

Lunch is on your own in the Old City. Free afternoon for shopping, massage and/or beach. A nap may in order for some of us!

Our welcome dinner will be in Hoi An. Afterwards we will discuss books that each of us has read, and share any books that people have brought along.

March 31: Hoi An & Hue (B, L)
After breakfast, our luggage will be collected and stored and we will check out of the hotel.

A morning bike ride (or scooter bike taxis for those who don’t want to bike) takes us to Cam Thanh fishing village to go net fishing, then crab fishing on round bamboo boats with native fishermen. Around noon, we will have a cooking class at Cam Thanh village, followed by lunching on some of the food we have prepared. Finally, those who want a foot massage can have one before our 2 pm departure.

Our bus will take us to Hue, approximately 2 ½ hours with a stop in DaNang at the famous China Beach and an overview of the city from Marble Mountain. The Marine base in DaNang is still operational. Our overnight is at the Vedana Lagoon Resort 5* (www.vedanalagoon.com)
Dinner is on your own.

April 1: Hue (B, L, D)
After breakfast and a short meeting, we will have a complete tour of Hue, the Vietnamese capital during the Nguyen Dynasty (1802-1945) and a well-known World Cultural Heritage Site. The Citadel and Imperial City still contain ruins of the city’s regal past, including seven royal tombs built by the emperors themselves. We will view the Thien Mu pagoda (the oldest and most symbolic pagoda in Hue) and the royal tombs via a cruise along the Perfume River. We will also have visits to Minh Mang and Khai Dinh tombs, which are the most beautiful tombs among the royal tombs in Hue.

Lunch is at Biet Phu Thao Nhi restaurant. Overnight at the Vedana Lagoon Resort

Group dinner. Either before or after dinner there will be a one-hour (optional) group discussion about the book “Eaves of Heaven,” an excellent portrayal of three majors time periods in Vietnam’s history.

April 2: Quang Binh (B, L)
After we enjoy breakfast, check out of our hotel and put our luggage on the bus. After a 3 hour bus drive on HCM trail to Dong Hoi town in Quang Binh province, we will spend the morning exploring the area around Paradise Cave, an incredible and colorful cave. Deep in the national park, surrounded by forest and karst peaks, this remarkable cave system is truly breathtaking, as wooden staircases descend into a cathedral-like space replete with colossal stalagmites and glistening stalactites of white crystal that resemble glass pillars.

After lunch together at Lake House restaurant, on the way to the train station, we will visit the DMZ and Vinh Moc tunnel, both of which are significant historical sites if you are interested in the Vietnam War (which, in Vietnam, is called “The American War”). The Vietnamese Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) was established as a dividing line between North and South Vietnam as a result of the First Indochina War.

If you and your “berthmates” want to buy some treats for the train, this will be a good place to do that. Dinner is on your own before boarding the train for an overnight to Hanoi—most likely deli-type sandwiches from a bakery/grocery store, as Lana says there are no good restaurants there.

A note about the train: This isn’t a luxury train because there really isn’t such a thing in Vietnam. However, they do call it a luxury train… and we will have an entire car with 5-6 cabins for our group. We worry about this overnight experience every time we have gone, but it is truly the only way to go between these two areas of Vietnam without wasting a whole day in a bus. However, each time it has provided the best stories from the whole tour! It is best to view this as the fastest way to get to Hanoi, and a definite adventure. We have sleeping berths reserved, four people to a “room”, with two sets of narrow bunks and clean pillows, sheets and a blanket.

April 3: Hanoi & Ha Long Bay (B, L, D)
After our trusty bus picks us up at the Hanoi train station, we’ll have breakfast and then drive to Hai Phong city, less than two hours away, at the launching spot for cruises in Ha Long Bay. Our morning meeting will likely be on the bus.

We will check in at V Premier cruise 4* (www.vspiritpremiercruises.com/) for our 1 ½ day cruise. There will be opportunities for swimming, kayaking, and exploring before a sunset happy hour, a lovely seafood dinner, and optional squid fishing or relaxation on the top deck of our boat. We will have a discussion about your reflections so far, either during happy hour or after dinner.

April 4: Ha Long & Lao Cai (B, L)
Morning Tai chi is offered on our boat, before breakfast. We will have a chance to hike on one of the islands to Sang Toi cave, and may also enjoy a boat ride. After an early wonderful lunch, we will check out and transfer to two smaller vans for our trip to the mountainous regions north of Hanoi. We will take breaks, but it is perhaps a good day to catch up on your reading or sleep, as the trip will take at least 6 hours and our destination is Bac Ha. We will stay at a central hotel in Bac Ha, probably the Sao Hai; dinner is on your own. It is a small enough village so that you can explore in the evening, and stretch out those legs.

April 5: Bac Ha (B, L, D)
Today is such a special day! We plan the entire itinerary so that we can attend the famous Sunday market in Bac Ha town. This weekly market is famous in all of SE Asia for the originality and authenticity that the traders still preserve. It is a blur of colorful plaids and stripes from women of many different ethnic tribes. There is also a buffalo market and auction!
After the market ends, and a quick lunch, our buses head to Panhou resort (5 hrs drive). Although these two days have long drives, the Bac Ha market is truly a remarkable experience, and the Pan Hou resort is a lovely eco-lodge close to one of the most fascinating hikes we will take.

The group will experience an amazing dinner and overnight in bamboo-walled “cabins” at the Pan Hou resort (www.panhou-village.com/en) (along with good wifi)

April 6: (B, L, D)
Today is one of the long treks, on the Hoang Su Phi trail, Luoc village—a hike of approximately 8 miles up and down small hills. Lunch is along the way, then we’ll head back to Panhou for late afternoon relaxing, learning about this eco-lodge, happy hour, and dinner.
A second overnight at Pan Hou Resort (www.panhou-village.com/en)

April 7: (B, L)
A 6-hour bus drive back to Hanoi, with lunch on the road.
Our overnight is at Tirant Hanoi Hotel (http://www.tiranhotel.com). The hotel is in the Old City, and is a very short walk to the famous lake, which is very picturesque when lit up after dark. People watching and shopping will be your reward after the long bus day.
Dinner is on your own, at one of the many excellent restaurants in the Old City.

April 8: (B, L, D)
After breakfast, we will go to Trang An National Park, for your choices of biking, walking, kayaking, and sightseeing at this unique and beautiful park, just an hour from Hanoi. You can make your choices of activities during the ride to the park.
Another overnight at Tirant Hanoi Hotel - http://www.tiranhotel.com

Group dinner, our last in Vietnam. Either before or after, we’ll have a meeting/gathering where we can discuss the transition from Hanoi to Bangkok to Bhutan, reflect on the past 10 days and look forward to the next set of adventures.

April 9: (B, L)
After breakfast, we will have a Hanoi city tour, and then a late afternoon flight to Bangkok (BKK) (we’re looking at a 4:00 flight, with arrival at our Bangkok airport hotel around 6:30).
Dinner on your own in Bangkok at an area that is a short walk from the hotel.

BHUTAN
All 3 meals each day are included in Bhutan.
April 10 Bangkok- Bhutan, day 1
Our flight leaves early, but it gives us more time on our first day in Bhutan!

Paro - Thimphu (65kms/1.5hrs)
Paro (alt. 2200m/7218ft) - The beautiful valley of Paro encapsulates within itself a rich culture, scenic beauty and hundreds of myths and legends. It is home to many of Bhutan's oldest temples and monasteries, National Museum and country's only airport. Mt. Chomolhari (7,314m/23,996 ft.) reigns in white glory at the northern end of the valley and its glacial water plunge through deep gorges to form Pa Chhu (Paro River). Paro is also one of the most fertile valleys in the Kingdom producing a bulk of the locally famous red rice from its terraced fields.

The flight to Paro is considered one of the most spectacular flight experiences in the world. While flying in and out of Bhutan, one can see Mt. Everest, Kanchenjunga, Makula, and other high peaks such as Jmalhari, Jichu Drakey, and Tsrin Gang. We will meet our Bhutanese guide, and get our visas.

Paro Valley

After landing at Paro, our tour guide will take us on a short one and half hour drive along the Paro and Thimphu river valleys to Thimphu, Bhutan’s capital, at 2320 meters/7611 ft.
After checking into our hotel, we will visit the following major sights.

Buddha point
Built in 2006, the world’s largest sitting Buddha houses over hundreds of thousands of small statues inside. The paintings and statues inside the monument provide a deep insight into Buddhist philosophy. Enjoy a stunning view of Thimphu city from this point.

Memorial Chorten
Built in 1974 as a monument for the 3rd king of Bhutan Jigme Dorji Wangchuck. It signifies the “Seat of Faith” and “Mind of Buddha”. It is also an informal “senior day care” for the elders of this city.

Tashichho Dzong
This interesting set of buildings has been the seat of the government since 1952 and presently houses the throne room and offices of the king, the secretariat and the ministries of home affairs and finance. Other government departments are housed in buildings nearby.
After dinner you are free to explore Thimphu Town and the Bhutanese Authentic Local Crafts Bazaar.

April 11: Bhutan Day 2, Thimphu

After breakfast we will go by bus 15km out of town to hike to Cheri Monastery. This one hour+ hike is uphill going up to the Monastery.

It was established in 1620 by Zhabdrung Ngawang Namgyal. The monastery is now a major teaching and retreat center of the Southern Drukpa Kagyu sect. The Monastery serves as the monastic school for study of Buddhist philosophy, metaphysics, mathematics, poetry and many other Buddhist studies. According to legend and part of the history of Bhutan, the place was first visited by Padmasambhava in the 8th century. In the 13th century it was visited by Phajo Drugom Zhigpo, the Tibetan Lama who first established the Drukpa Kagyu tradition in Bhutan. Zhabdrung spent three years in strict retreat at the monastery and stayed for many years after those three years.

A delicious lunch will be provided at the riverside. After lunch we will drive back to the city and visit:

School of Thirteen Arts & Crafts

It is the primary center of learning for Bhutanese artists. Depending upon the student’s interest, one can specialize in any of the thirteen arts and crafts, including painting, weaving, sculptures, blacksmithing, embroidery, etc. It is the best place for visitors to learn about traditional Bhutanese arts and crafts.

National Textile Museum

This museum is worth a visit to learn about Bhutan’s living national art of weaving. The ground floor focuses on cham costumes, while the upper floor introduces the major weaving techniques, styles of local dress and type of textiles made by women and men. There is usually a small group of weavers working their looms inside the shop, which features work from the renowned weaving centre of Lhuentse in northeastern Bhutan.

Centenary Farmer’s Market

Take a walk through this market and shop/interact with the local farmers. Thimphu’s new weekend market is by far the largest domestic market for the farmers in Bhutan. Farmers come from all over the country to sell their farm products in the market. With its wide assortment of fresh, organic produce, the Farmer’s Market has become a favorite spot for tourists and a recreational place for people from all walks of life. Overnight is in Thimphu, same hotel. We will have an optional book discussion about the recommended Bhutan books. The exact book will be communicated on the reading list.

April 12, Bhutan day 3, Thimphu – Punakha

After breakfast we will drive to Punakha.

Punakha Altitude: 1300m/4265ft. Punakha served as the capital of Bhutan during the time of Zhabdrun Ngawang Namgyal, the founder of Bhutan. Today it is the administrative and religious center of the district and the winter home of Bhutan’s Central Monk Body. It is blessed with temperate climate and owing to its natural drainage from Pho Chhu (male) and Mo Chhu (female) rivers, the Punakha valley produces abundant crops and fruits.

Start your morning by enjoying and taking pictures of the Dochula Pass (3150m/10,334ft) with its panoramic views of the Himalayas. The pass is decorated with 108 Druk Wangyal Chorten, which were built to celebrate the stability and progress, brought to Bhutan by His Majesty Jigme Singye Wangchuck, the Fourth King of Bhutan. The pass provides a spectacular 360-degree panoramic view of the Himalayan Mountain Range.
After checking into our Punakha hotel we will visit the following places, with a stop for lunch along the way:

Chimmi Lhakhang
Situated on a hillock in the center of the valley, this place is dedicated to Lama Drukpa Kuenley, who in the late 15th century used humor, songs and outrageous behavior to dramatize his teachings and due to this he is also known as "Divine Madman". It is known as a fertile temple area, and is frequented by childless couples and others alike for blessings.

On our way from this fascinating area, we will visit a local farmhouse for tea and treats, while we experience the hospitality of a Bhutanese host.

Punakha Dzong
This name means Palace of Great Bliss. This Dzong stands magnificently on the spit of land where two rivers (Phochu and Mochu) meet. Punakha Dzong has special significance in Bhutanese history as the place where Bhutan's first King, Ugyen Wangchuck, was crowned in 1907.

Suspension Bridge
This Bridge is located near Punakha Dzong and is the longest suspension bridge in Bhutan. The bridge connecting the nearby villages and mountains adjacent gives us a magnificent view.

In the late afternoon, we have free time to explore Punakha Town and/or relax at the hotel. We will have a happy hour that evening, before dinner. There will be an optional discussion about what we have seen and learned in Bhutan, at our halfway point.

April 13: Bhutan day 4, Punakha-Paro
After breakfast our bus will take us back to Paro. Enroute we may visit the Lamperi Botanical Gardens - The garden is located in the center of a 47 sq. mile botanical park (35km from Thimphu) and has over 46 species of rhododendron.

After arrival and checking into our lovely hotel, we will visit the following places:

National Museum (Ta Dzong)
This dzong was built in the 17th century to guard the Paro Rimpong Dzong (fortress) below. It was said that the future first king was kept in this tower as a prisoner for a week. It was the third king who restored the Ta-dzong and converted it into the National Museum. The visit to the museum will familiarize you with the Bhutanese way of life and will also acquaint you with the natural and cultural history.
Paro Rimpong Dzong
Regal and imposing, dzongs are arguably among the most distinctive and important structures in Bhutan. This Dzong is the headquarters of the Paro district, housing the head administrator and staff, as well as a monastic body with about 200 monks. From the dzong, we will hike down to the bridge and then take a short drive for an opportunity to explore the town of Paro.

After our incredible buffet dinner, the evening is free.

April 14: Bhutan Day 5, Paro
Bhutan’s most picturesque landmark, Taktshang, the Tiger’s Nest, clings to the side of a steep cliff (300m/984 ft.) above the Paro valley. The place was first visited by Guru Rimpoche, founder of the tantric form of Buddhism in Himalayan countries, in the 8th century. It was said that he meditated there for about three months. The original temple was built in the 17th century, but tragically, it was consumed by fire in 1998. Like a phoenix, the temple was rebuilt to its fullest glory in 2003. Takshang is considered to be the 10th holiest site in the Buddhist world.

The hike is strenuous, but well worth the effort! The eight mile (rd. trip) hike takes approximately four hours, depending on the length of your break about half-way up for tea and crackers and on how many photos you take!

Later in the afternoon you have options:
Visit Kyichu Lhakhang, one of the oldest and most sacred shrines of the Kingdom dating back to 7th century (the other is Jambey Lhakhang in Bumthang). The lhakhang complex is composed of two temples. The first temple was built by Tibetan King, Songtsen Gampo in the 7th century and in 1968, H.M. Ashi Kesang, the Queen Mother of Bhutan, built the second temple in original pattern.

Or, Visit arts and crafts shops in Paro

Or, relax at the hotel

Our last happy hour will be shared at the hotel. After another wonderful buffet dinner at the Naksei Resort, we will have a final session to share our impressions of Bhutan, and say our goodbyes.
April 15  Bhutan Day 6: Fly out of Bhutan to Bangkok. From there, you are welcome to travel to other places on your way home, or stay for a few days in Thailand. We can give you ideas about amazing places there, if you want a few days to relax before heading home!
