Qualifications: All Luther College students from any major who are enrolled full-time (12+ credits in Spring 2019 and in good academic standing) are eligible to compete for the Erdman Prize. The scholarship will be coordinated with the winners' financial assistance for the 2019-20 academic year (unless the winner is a graduating senior, in which case the scholarship is coordinated with the current year's financial assistance). Please contact Aaron Steffens for questions about the scholarship administration.

Application requirements: In writing, describe your entrepreneurial activity in detail. Your application should demonstrate your ability to recognize and pursue a business opportunity without regard to required resources and show how you have built "added value" beyond a personal salary. Exhibited initiative, applied creativity, and persistence over adversity will all be given consideration. You should explain how and why you decided to pursue this business venture, the financial commitment you and/or others made, the advertising and promotion methods you used, and the struggles/challenges you encountered during the venture. You must also provide detailed financial information. Typical financial information includes an income statement, a balance sheet (if you have a business with assets), or year-end statements. An operational business plan containing the financial statements is also acceptable. In addition, you should include market research that supports the business and/or social need for your venture. Your written description should not exceed five double-spaced pages. You may provide photos or samples of your business or product if you feel it is necessary. The five-page limit does not include the financial data, pictures, advertising samples, photos, etc. Attach all information listed above to this application form and return it to Olin 327 by Monday, April 8, 2019 by 2:30 p.m.
