

Information on Jutta Fischer (Herrmann) Anderson

Born in Germany, Jutta Anderson earned her Erstes Staatsexamen (M.A. equivalent) in Art History and Art Education at the Johannes Gutenberg University in Mainz. She served as an instructor of art at various universities in both Germany and the United States before pursuing postgraduate studies in Art History, Psychology, and Theology after emigrating to the United States. She has taught and lectured on a wide variety of subjects, but especially on art, art and theology, and art history during her career. Anderson even taught a semester course at Luther College. She has been a contributing editor for Christianity and the Arts.