TEACHING RESPONSIBILITIES

COURSES TAUGHT FOR LUTHER COLLEGE (since nursing curriculum revision)

Rochester Coordinator
Course Coordinator and Clinical Coordinator for clinical courses N371, N373, N378, N376
Most recently 2021-
2021-

NURS 377 Family/Child Nursing (team taught and offered Fall semester only)
Fall 2016-current
"This course focuses on childbearing and childrearing families, with emphasis on culturally competent and developmentally appropriate nursing care to promote healthy infant/adolescent and family function. Concepts of family theory, family-centered care, family culture and health promotion are emphasized."
Currently teaching the pediatric portion of the course, collaborated in syllabus design and course structure,

NURS 378 Family/Child Clinical (offered both semesters) 2016-current
 “This clinical course is meant to apply knowledge and skills learned in NURS 377 with childbearing and childrearing families. Students will utilize clinical decision-making skills, assessment and therapeutic communication.”
 Ongoing coordination of clinical instructors for both maternity and pediatric portions of the course, provide clinical supervision for students in pediatric clinicals, collaborate in development of course assignments, syllabus and course design.

NURS 384 Evidence-Based Practice (team taught and offered Fall semester only) 2017-2019
 “This course emphasizes the use of research as a key component in clinical decision making for nursing practice. Theoretical and practical components of research perspectives and the research process are discussed. The course incorporates ethical aspects of the research process and research history. Integration of multiple sources of evidence to guide nursing practice is analyzed.”

NURS 388 Health Informatics (offered Spring Semester only) 2017, 2018, 2019 , 2021
 This course includes the study of health informatics and information technology from consumer, clinical, and public health perspectives. Students will analyze the use of information technology to communicate, manage knowledge, mitigate error, and support clinical decision-making.

NURS 390 Nursing Leadership in Health Care (offered Spring Semester only) 2017 – 2021
 “This course will view integrated concepts of leadership and management and advocacy, recognizing nursing as a collective profession within the larger health care delivery system. This course will emphasize nurses' roles in promoting social justice in health care, in the context of economic, social, political, and ethical influence. Students will understand how the health care system impacts the delivery of care, in health care organizations and direct patient care, focusing on cost, quality, safety, and access. Historical perspectives of health care will be used to contextualize trends in nursing leadership and their role in the delivery of care.”
