If yes , please provide date(s) of examination:
Does the student have a documented disability as determined by ADA? Yes No
If yes, what is the specific disability and describe the symptoms the student has that meet the criteria for this diagnosis as compared to the general population of college students.
Identify all instruments used to reach diagnosis (diagnostic test, clinical interview, etc.).
PART II: Questions to determine whether an accommodation is needed.
A student with a disability is entitled to reasonable accommodations only when needed because of barriers from a disability as defined by the ADA. The following questions may help determine whether the requested accommodation is needed because of the disability.
Does the impairment substantially limit a major life activity as compared to most people in the general population?
State a minimum of one major life activity of the student that limits their ability to function due to the student's diagnosed disability compared to the general population of college students.
What impact of collegiate life is the student having trouble performing or accessing because of their diagnosed disability and how are the major life activities limiting the student compared to the general population of college students?
Is this a short-term (less than 90 days) or long-term (more than 90 days) disability? If short term, what is the expected duration?
PART III: Questions to help determine effective accommodation options.
If a student has a disability and needs an accommodation, the college must consider a reasonable accommodation, unless the accommodation poses an undue hardship or it is a fundamental alteration to the course. The following questions may help determine effective accommodations:
Do you have any recommendations regarding possible accommodations for Accessibility Services to consider? Yes No
